2 The Consumer Product Safety Office ("CPSO") conducts regular post-market surveillance to detect non-compliant general consumer goods supplied in Singapore.

Non-compliances detected from surveillance of baby cots and strollers

3 Recent surveillance of baby cots and strollers detected non-compliances to the applicable international safety standards:

Baby cots

- Presence of openings and moving parts/sides that were wide enough to trap children's fingers or head.
- Presence of points where clothes can get trapped, potentially causing strangulation.
- Cot bases that could break easily and cause falls.
- Cots with sides of insufficient height to prevent children from climbing out.

Strollers

- Presence of small and detachable parts which can cause choking.
- Having frames or wheels that broke while passing over uneven surfaces, which can lead to falls.
- Inadequate restraint systems which can lead to falls.
- Presence of moving parts that can trap, pinch, or cut fingers or toes.

4 Suppliers of these baby cots and strollers were directed to cease supply.

Reminder to baby cot and stroller suppliers

5 Suppliers of baby cots and strollers must ensure compliance to applicable international safety standards such as ISO 7175, EN 716, ASTM F1169 or ASTM F406 for baby cots, and EN 1888 or ASTM F833 for strollers.

6 Suppliers of any non-compliant general consumer goods will be directed to cease supply. Any person who fails to comply with the directions given by CPSO shall be guilty of an offence and liable on conviction to a fine up to $10,000 or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding 2 years or to both.

The Consumer Product Safety Office (CPSO) safeguards consumer safety by ensuring consumer products supplied in Singapore are safe for use and comply with applicable safety standards.
